

The Mariposa Center for Infant, Child, and Family Enrichment is looking for an experienced licensed mental health clinician (LPC, LCSW, LMFT) with a child and family focus to join our Denver-based group private practice. The therapist must have extensive training in trauma modalities, hold a play/creative arts focus, and possess a commitment to equity and social justice in mental health access. The therapist must be willing or already able to accept insurance, including behavioral health Medicaid. The position is flexible, full-time and includes managing a caseload and administrative duties necessary to maintain the group practice. Cases are a combination of clinic- and home-based. Best fit candidates are willing to work flexibly in a busy pediatric clinic environment and are willing and able to provide supervision to counseling students through our internship program. Spanish-speaking preferred, but not required.

The Mariposa Center provides a supportive environment for therapists to work, valuing self-care, clear and kind communication styles, and strong collegial relationships amongst clinicians. For more information on The Mariposa Center please visit www.mariposacenterdenver.com. Interested applicants please send a CV and letter of interest that includes a statement of theoretical orientation to info@mariposacenterdenver.com; email inquiries only. Only licensed therapists will be interviewed.
